

World Book Day at Touro University Graduate School of Education

World Book Day at Touro University celebrates the joy of reading and the pride of having books of your own. Touro Graduate School faculty and friends are joining in the celebration on Thursday, April 7th, 2022, through a marathon read aloud from 9 am to 4 pm. Concurrently, we are celebrating our 50th anniversary as Touro University by sharing award-winning books and resources for teachers, parents, and caregivers.

You can join us in two ways:

Donate a Book

Please donate a new book, to be distributed to families experiencing homelessness. This year's collection of books will be donated to the Long Island Coalition for the Homeless based in Amityville and The Children's Rescue Fund, operating within the South Bronx and Manhattan.

Through your generous gift, you affirm every child's right to read, the positive influence of parent and child interactions with books, and the need for equitable access to quality literature for all children. We encourage donations of bilingual, culturally diverse, and special ability books for children and youth across all three grade levels of Birth – Grade 2, Grades 1-6, and Grades 7-12. You may donate books through the end of April 2022.

Books may be mailed or dropped off at these locations:

Dr. Joanne Robertson-Eletto

Touro University, Graduate School of Education

225 Eastview Drive

Rooms 220 and 222

Central Islip, New York, 11722

Dr. Laurie Bobley

Touro University, Graduate School of Education

320 West 31st Street

Room 215 B

Manhattan, New York, 10001

Attend a Read Aloud & Access Free Literature Resources on Thursday, April 7, 2022

You can attend the entire day or come in and out for stories that interest you. If you are a teacher, we encourage you to bring your class. The webinar read alouds will be enriched with carefully selected web resources for teacher/parent/caregiver activities that can be used in conjunction with a shared reading of the book.

Registration Required for This Free Event

Touro University Worldbook Day Webinar Registration and Link